

Turkish Sociology in the Process of Historical Development

Gökhan Veli KÖKTÜRK*

 0000-0002-8453-4063

ARTICLE INFO

Received: 14 01 2021
Received in revised form: 21 02 2021
Accepted: 06 04 2021
Published: 15 04 2021

Keywords:

Turkish Sociology
History of Sociology
Timeline
Sociology of History
Visualization

ABSTRACT

This study, which contributes to the studies on sociologists and their works, which have an important place in the studies of determining the history of Turkish sociology, was formed by the theoretical combination of visualization and the history of Turkish Sociology. Studies to create a timeline are studies that cover the events that are effective in a certain period and which can be considered as a turning point in the development of, and their effects on, sociology. The aim is to select the events that are effective in the development of sociology as the main determinants and to bring to the fore among many factors. The process of creating a timeline differs from the history of sociology and falls within the scope of sociology of History. The integrity of a large number of variables is emphasized without looking for any linearity or causality relationship in the timeline studies. The most important part of the studies on creating a historical timeline is the visualization phase. A link should be established using visualization between Turkish sociology and the digital world. Thus, the history of Turkish sociology can be passed on to future generations. In this sense, narration, understanding and interpretation are important steps to be taken in the construction of society. In addition, the topics covered in the study that shape Turkish sociology are the events and phenomena that affect the structuring in the world.

* Dr., Akdeniz University Faculty of Letters Department of Sociology, ✉ gokhanvelikokturk@gmail.com